The memorial was amended in the house by the insertion of the words "governor and" before "legislature," etc. Otherwise the memorial went "as she lays."

Mr. Ashton said that the committee on THE WIDOW OF OFF federal relations was not at all satisfied with the phraseology of the senate, and had in mind numerous changes along these lines, but, realizing that the methese lines, but, realizing that the ine-morial must get to congress pretty quick-ly, he and his associates on the commit-tee decided, for one time, at least, to overlook a bet or two on the English language. Mr. Ashton, however, left the impression that the senate would better be careful how it handled its grammar and its rhetoric in the future.

TO MAKE BUILDINGS MORE SANITARY

Senator Herschel Bullen, jr., chairman of the education committee, will introduce today a radical amendment to the present school laws which will provide for the absolute sanitation of all school buildings

The amendment provides for the creation of a state commission to pass on all school buildings before they are used for school purposes. This commission is to consist of the state superintendent of public hastruction, the secretary of the state board of health, and a competent architect to be appointed by the governor. The bill provides that each school building shall be so constructed that there shall be 200 cubic feet of air space for each pupil in each room. Thirty cubic feet of pure air must be provided for each pupil each minute. The ventilation must be independent of aimospheric changes. The bill provides that each building must be equipped with an adequate heating plant and adequate protection against fire. plant and adequate protection against fire It is provided that the school trustees must advertise the construction of such buildings at each school bond election.

Senate bill No. 17 was introduced by Senator Benner X. Smith. It provides for an appropriation of $1,500 to refurnish the governor's office. The committee amended the bill by making this amount be used also for the purpose of refurnishing the office of the secretary of state. These reports will be submitted to the senate to

TO PLACE GOVERNOR ON STATE LAND BOARD

Senator Herschel Bullen, jr., yesterday introduced a bill amending the present law relating to the composition of the state board of land commissioners. Under the terms of his bill the governor is made a member of the land board and its president. The bill also provides that the secretary shall appoint all clerical help, making the approval of the land board unneces ing the approval of the land board unnecessary. Under the present law the secretary has the entire responsibility of the office and is under a bond of $500,000, but all appointments made by him are subject to the approval of the other members of the board who are only under a bond of $50,000. The bill was referred to the committee

An amendment was introduced in the An amendment was introduced in the house yesterday making section 1819 read that no teacher shall be employed or dismissed in any district without the concurrence of the county superintendent of schools. The lines in the present law to the effect that the county superintendent shall be informed immediately of the engagement or dismissal of any teacher are eliminated, and the lines relating to visitninated, and the lines relating to visiting other schools are also eliminated.

INHERITANCE TAX LAW MAY BE AMENDED

By the insertion of a line or two in the present law relating to inheritance tax, the widow and children are given greater protection. The law now reads that a tax of 5 per cent shall be paid on property in excess of $10,000. A bill by Mr. Nielson makes this proviso: "That if there be living a wife or issue of the deceased, then the tax herein provided for shall be paid only upon the market value of the property in excess of $5,000 for such surviving wife and $2,500 for each surviving child."

House bill No. 43, providing for the Sunday closing of all places of amusement, which passed the house on Wednesday, reached the senate yesterday, and was referred to the committee on judiciary.

MUST HAVE MONEY

People who pay their obligations with checks when they have not sufficient money in the bank to meet them are likely to find themselves in serious trouble if the senate indorses, and the governor approves the bill that passed the house vesterday. The number of the bill is 66. It was sought to amend it by inserting the provision that the person who draws the check must do so with intent to defraud. There are many people, it was said, in the course of the debate, who give checks that are not taken up within a reasonable time, but upon

There is no truth in the report circulated by Governor Haskell or his friends at William R. Hearst inspired the suits. that William R. Hearst inspired the suits. I was the man who inspired the prosecutions and from the first I have been most active in forwarding them.

Wrote to Roosevelt.

"In an open letter to Governor Haskell last fall. I charged him with the very frauds for which he is now indicted. He denied my charges and I wrote to President Roosevelt I had based my assertions upon the sworn statement of 200 persons whom Haskell had used as 'dummies' in his transactions. These statements were gathered in two civil suits which I had instituted on behalf of the Creek Indians to recover lands of which they had been defrauded.

"Twenty-six of these with the results of the creek Indians to recover lands of which they had been defrauded." defrauded.
"Twenty-six of these suits were started before statehood was consummated and before Haskell was a candidate for governor. As they were based on the same allegations of frauds as the criminal proceedings, I cannot see how Haskell correctly can allege that they were inspired by Hearst or that there is any politics in them."
